RESARKABLE COINCIDENCE .- Th Rev. T. Clark was the first incumbent of Christ Church, Preston, and soon after his appointment he planted by between the two towers in front of the church. Within the last quarter of a contury the ivy has waxed and spread under fostering care, and would long since have extended over considerable portion of the roof, had it not been for the clipping shears of the gardener. Last Son-day night was appointed for the incumbent to preach his farewell sermon, and the evening was very wet. Immediately after the sermon, all the ivy in front of the church fell down, thus denuding the sacred edifice of its verdant covering, which, considering it to be town growth, was very luxuriant. It is a remarkable coincidence that the ivy should thus fall, immediately after the incumbent, who had watched its growth with so much interest for more than quarter of a century, bade farewell to an attached congregation:

ONLY 500,000.—The popular majority for Mr. Lincola on the 8th inst., is the largest ever re-ceived by any candidate for the Presidency since the formation of the government, being no less than 500,000 votes. Frank Pierce received almost every electoral vote in 1852; but his majority on the popular vote was only about 60,000. In 1856 there was a majority of over 400,000 against James Buchanan. In 1860 the majority against Mr. Lincoln, of all the votes cast, was over $50,-000. But after four years of the severest trial that ever fell to the lot of mortal man, the people rise up in their majesty and almost invariably invite him to administer their government four years longer. "We are coming, Father Abraham, 500,000 more," was emphatically true last Tuesday ; and when you hear a man railing at the rail splitter, just point him

THE WOMEN OF THE SOUTH. They say the very devil has got into many of the women of the South. They have formed themselves into an association for the express purpose of forcing every young man of their acquaintance into the rebel army, and it is said they have been quite successful in so doing. In a good cause such devotion would be creditable. But as it is, the action of these women remind us of the exclamation of the Irishman when he saw a bull on the railroad track, squaring, his head, in a threatening manner, at the locomotive as it came down upon him. Said he: "I admire your spunk, my little fellow, but d-n your discretion."

A MOST LAUDABLE MOVE -At & Sunday School meeting in Ohio, the subject of the slim attendance of the papils at the school being under consideration, a promising lawyer offered the following resolution : Resolved, That a committee of young ladies and gentlemen be appointed to raise children for the Sabbath School.

The Daily Union Telette. REDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 96, 187 THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The length of this excellent document precluded us from noticing it in yester-day's paper. While recommending it to the careful perusal of all our readers, it may be profilless to touch briefly on its salient points, as well as correct typographical errors which were unavoidable in a first print.

The whole document is a masterly and very clear statement of the condition of the country, without any attempt at the ernate or spread eagle style much in vogue with modern writers. Plain and homely, considered as a literary composition, as the anthor itself, a strong common sense and a hopeful patriotism pervades the entire Message.

The President opens with a brief statement of our foreign relations which he declares to be "reasonably satisfactory," followed by a running review of our intercourse with other nations during the past year. He speaks approvingly and encouragingly of the two great interoceanic telegraph lines which are soon to unite us with Europe and Asia. Without indulging in useless whines over the bad faith of European monarchies in rushing to the rescue of the rebels, by ackfowledging in them maritime belligerent rights. The Message in several parts contains quiet bits of sarcasm which will strike home to France and England and plainly show them that our Chief Magistrate is neither ignorant of their bad faith to a friendly government, nor unmindtal of the evil effect of their quasi neutrality, but real if not open sympathy with the rebellion. Referring to the re-opening of certain rebel ports now in our possession, and the increased facilities given to commerce, the President with quiet sarcasm sends a pointed shaft when he says :

It is possible that if it were a new sod open question, the maritime powers with the right they new enjoy would not concede the privileges of a naval helligerent to the insurgents of the fine street and always have been equally of ships, ports and harbors. Disloyal emissaries have been neither less assidious nor more successful during the last year than they were before that time, in their efforts under favor of that privilege to embrail our country in foreign wars.

In consequence of the late repeated attacks on our frontier by rebels from the Canada border, notice has been given to the "Imperial Government" that at the end of the stipulated six months the United States with hold themselves in readiness to increase their naval armanent on the Lakes. While paying a a just tribute to the friendly feeling of the Canadian authorities, he just intimates, without actually saying it; that the home government may not be so warm in its endeavors to respect our rights.

Then comes a gratifying statement of our financial affairs, which is a complete official answer to the cavilings of Copperheads and the exaggerated statement of Anguste Belmont, that our debt exceeded three thousand millions of dollars. The figures show that if the war were to continue another year, viz.: until the 1st of July $65. the whole debt would be but $2,242.690.489.49, not quite two thousand two hundred and lifty millions.

in another column we re-print the financial statement to correct evident errors in our yesterday's publication of the Message the Message.

The President speaks approvingly of the National Banking System. Already there have been entablished 584 National Banks, which are destined soon to take the place of private and State institutions. A very brief synopsis of the reports of the Secretaries of War, Navy, and Interior is given, as also of the other Cabinet officers.

On the subject of the war the Message touches briefly on the progress of our man since the adjournment of Congress. Our lines and positions have not only been maintained, but our armies bave to meet the expenses consequent upon the war, derived from taxation, should be still padvanced, liberating the States, which have produced fair crops. As a signal evidence of our power not only to main-tair ourselve, but to crush our every veelige of resellion, the President, with modest parace, thus refers to the most wordestul a litary movement of this or any other age:

The most remarkable feature in the military operations of the year, is General Sherman attempted march of three hundred milits directly through the insurgent region. It tends to show a great increase of our relative strength, the our General in-Chief should feel able to confront and held in wheel every active force of the memby and yet to destach a well appointed area to move on such an expedition, the regult no yet being known. Confectible in regard to it is to move on such an expedition, the result not yet being rates. Conjunct in regard to it is not bere indulged.

We have only space to call attention to the figures, produced by the Message on the subject of our voting population, which prove beyond all cavil our ability to conduct the war indefinitely, should that be necessary to re-establish the Union in all its integrity. It will excite the surprise of many, that during the lour years of desolating civil war, our voting population has actually increased instead of having been diminished by the slaughter of battle fields.

The Message enumerates the States regularly holding elections, both new and in 1850, and shows that they cast at the late elections 3,962,011, to which is to be added the 33,762 voters of the new States of Kansas and Nevada, making an aggregate of 4,015,773 against the 3,870,222 cast by the same States in 1860, showing an actual increase in our voting population of 145,555. Without these figures, thus officially given, one could harily credit the fact, and we commend them to those of our Mormon friends who are so persistent in insisting that the war is carrying off all our men, to leave the women and the land as the inheritance of the Saints of these salty regions.

With such a statement of our financial and military position, and the number of men upon whom to call for aid against rebellion, the President may well say that we can continue the war indefinitely, without even the prospect of exhaustion.

CORRECTION OF THE FIGURES.—Yesterday we had only space to call attention to the palpable errors in the Financial statement of the President's Message. Below we re-publish the entire paragraph, with such corrections as are evident on the face. Of course in reproducing by telegraph so many figures, errors will necessarily occur, but we think these given below are as near correct as can be had until the message, as printed in the New York or Washington papers, shall reach us:

The financial affairs of the Government have been successfully administered during the last year. The requisition of the last session of Congress has beneficially effected the revenue, although sufficient time has not yet elapsed to experience the full effects of several of the provisions of the acts of Congress im-posing increased taxation. The receipts during the year from all sources upon the basis of warrants signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, including loans and balance in Treasury on the lat day of July, 1863, were $1.394.796,007 62 and the aggregate disbursements upon the same basis were $1,298,056,101 89. leaving a balance in the Treasury, as shown by warrants of $96,739.905 73. Deduct from these the amount of the principal and public debt redeemed, and the amount of issue in substitution there-for, and the actual cash operations of the treasury were: receipts, $884.076. 646 77; disbursements, $865,234,087 86 which leaves a balance in the treasury of $18.842.558 91. Of the receipts there were derived from customs. $162,316,-152 99; trom lands, $588,333 29; from direct taxes. $475.648 96; from internal revenue, $109,741.134 10; from miscellaneons sources, $47,571,413-10, and from loans applied to actual expenditures, including the former balance, $623,443 929 13. There were disbursed for civil service, $27,505,599 46 : for pensions and Indians, $7,517,930 97; for war department, $60,791.842 97; for navy department, $85,733,292 79; for interest of public debt, $53.685.421 09making an aggregate of $865,234.087 86. and leaving a balance in the treasury of $18.842.558 91, as before stated. For the actual receipts and disbursements for the first quarter, and the estimated re-ceipts and disbursements for the three remaining quarters of the current fiscal year, and the general operations of the treasury in detail, I refer you to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury. I concur with him in the opinion that the proportion of the monies required to meet the expenses consequent upon

New York, Dec. 7th.

We have to-day some additional items from rebel sources, showing how the fright at Sherman's approach to the sea coast is spreading in Georgia and South Carolina. All officials, civil and militately, have issued fierce and feverish proclamations, calling on every male, old and young, who was able to shoutder a musket, to immediately report for duty. The mayors of Savannah and Charleston, as well as the rebel army officers commanding these places, issued before their already terrified community, documents of this character, probably by this means adding considerably to the panic. Gov. Brown, of Georgia, issued three more proclamations on the crisis. But in Charleston, according to the Republican, even these stirring papers don't bring ont citizens, for it appears that the military guard has to go around town and drag them out of their hiding

Gen. Dick Taylor has been assigned to the command of all Alabama and Georgia reserves, with his head-quarters at Savannah.

The Macon Telegraph of Nov. 25th, says: Sherman's situation is daily growing more precarious, and we may confidently hope for his complete overthrow and destruction. The Central fond is said to be entirely destroyed between Griswoldsville and McIntire.

Detroit, Dec. 7th.

Detroit, Dec. 7th.

Information of the most positive character that a raid upon this city is being organized by rebei refugees in Canada, has been received by the civil and military authorities here. Col. Hill, military commander, in a note to aliaj. Barker, recommends that immediate measures be taken to organize and arm a regiment of militia for local protection. A large number of special policemen have been enrolled, and active measures are otherwise being taken to protect the city.

Nashville. Dec. 6th.

Very little of interest has transpired to-day. A flag of trace came in during the day bearing a letter from Hood, requesting an exchange of prisoners Those captured by us having been sent North, the request couldn't be granted. A body of rebels attacked block houses 6 and 7, near Murfreesboro, yesterday. The garrisons fought gallantly until reinforcements arrived from Murfreesboro, when the rebels were driven off in confusion, leaving six pieces of artillery and a number of prisoners.

Everything is quiet at the front to day Hood's head-quarters is said to be at Brentwood, six miles from the city, on the pike. The rebels are entreaching themselves and have taken possession of a hill near Hyde Ferry, and are planting a battery. There has been heavy cannonading since 4 p. m., to-day; our guns being engaged in shelling the rebels to prevent them planting batteries.

Louisville, Dec. 6th.

A Nashville special says the rebels lost ten General officers in the battle at Franklin; among whom was Gen's Gavan and Quaries. Cheatham escaped capture only by the fleetness of his borse. The steamers Prima Donna, Prairie State and Magnet, were captured yesterday by the rebels on the Chuberland, and recaptured to-day by the gunboat Coron

A dispatch from the Army of the Potomac, on the 5th, says picket firing was kept up with drify casualties. The most stringent orders are issued against holding intercourse with the enemy, or exchanging newspapers with them. The steamship Futton, specially detailed, will leave fo-morrow with a heavy mail for Sherman's army. She goes under sealed orders, as the exact point of Sherman's arrival on the coast is not yet divuiged.

The steamer Golden City left Panama on the 24th ult., for San Francisco.

The Herald says: Information was lately received that Dr. Gwinn has obtained from Maximitian, through the influence of the Emperer Napoleon, a commission as Governor General of Sonora, with authority to induce imigration to settle the country. The Herald thinks this a preliminary step to establishing a French colony on the Pacific coast.

Bench of the Surrem Court to morrow Prisoners captured on the steener Salvador are still on board the guessal Lancaster.

Recent Brazilian papers contain copies of an order issued by that government, that all ports of the country be shut against the Wachments for violating the neutral laws at Bahia.

A Fortress Monroe letter of the 5th, gives particulars, of the capture of the blockade funner vixen by the gunboat Rhode Island. The vixen is a new steamer on her first royage, is English built and of faultless model, and equipped with horizontal engines. Previous to her coming in contact with the Rhode Island she had been pursued by two steamers and out ran both. During the chase the Vixen ran fourteen knots, but was gained upon by the Rhode Island. Her wheels turned so rapidly as to throw off the buckets and disable the boat. The Rhode Island towed her to Fortress Monroe. The Vixen is a splendid specimen of naval architecture. She is 225 feet in length, has two smoke stacks, two masts, schooner rigged, and has a large crew numbering 100 men, and their Captain is an officer in the English navy.

Letters from the Army of the Potomac contain no news. The impost quiet prevailed along our lines at the latest dates.

The Macon Messenger of the 23d says of the cavalry fight at Wainut Creek: "The enemy had tour pieces of artillery, variously estimated at from five to 8,000 men commanded by Kilpatrick. An artillery fire was opened and kept up briskly for about two hours without loss on our side. Their shooting was not creditable. During the fight Capt. Hafford, of the 10th Obio regiment, with a very few men who had crossed the creek, made a daring charge on our artillery, when his borse was shot and the Captain captured. These are about the only incidents of this second attack on our city. All the injury done in the immediate vicinity was the burning of the mill and injuring a few hundred yards of the railroad. It was a very feeble demonstration and evidently without effecting or accomplishing anything. The Savannah Republican of the 28th

Washington, Dec. 7th.

The Republican Senators held a caucus this morning to arrange the standing committees. These will remain bearly as they were during the last session of the Senate. Vacancies are being filled Senator Sherman is to be Chairman of the committee on finance. With the view to harmony between the committee on mayal affairs and the naval department, a change of Chairman to supercede Senator Hale, is suggested. This question will not be decided until the caucus meet again to morrow.

Washington. Dec. 7.

A bill was introduced in the House on Tuesday, by Thad Stevens, to prevent gold and silver coin and bullion from being paid or accepted for greater value than their real current value, and for preventing any note or bill issued by the United States from being received for a smaller sum than thereon specified, which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. The Herald's special says: In state tion to the admissions of Richmond papers of the 5th that Gen. Sherman's main army reached Millen, the authorities have information of unquestionable reliability, that Sherman's main army has aiready passed Millen without a battle and without expenditure of any amount tion, except what was used in two or three skiriniables of detachments who are already reported as having passed Millen. There is no opportunity for the rebel force to intercept his march to the coast, where supplies for his army will arrive simultaneously with it. Thesompties is now beyond a doubt, and it has been demonstrated that all that remains of the army of the tebellion is comprised in the armies of Hood and Lee, both of which will soon be rendered powerles.

The Richmond Examiner of the 5th says: Sherman's army passed Milen without entering the town. The column which had been lingering for some fine in the neighborhood of Macon has left the country and gone off. We are unable to say where the main body is, but presume it is the column which is said to have passed Millen. Neither can it say where the main body is going, but believes Sherman is making all speed for Brunswick, on the coast, and may reach there with some of his army, but before ne reaches Blue Water he will have to flight one or two general actions. Af any rafe the campaign is drawing tor close, and the end will be Sherman reaching the coast, or his deleat, and perhaps, surrender at some point but where he is.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 5th says: It is not known where Sherma is. It is not clear he has yet reached Millen, though the fact is assumed, at 4 p. m., last Friday, the telegraph opentor at Millen announced that Sherma was within four miles of that place. Nothing has been heard from there may will be had been within twenty miles of Millen for the last week. A Savanah report of the last week. A Savanah report of the last says the whereshots of Sherman's main body has been saisfactorily ascertained, and his movement yesterday indicated anything but a decision of purpose as to his destination, and the signs are that many people who have been alarmed at the idea of his taking them in his line of march, will be agree

The whole valley has been stripped of stock for at least five miles each side the pike. All barns containing hay and other forage was barned in that portion of the valley made a rendezvous for Mosby's men. The raid was to deprive guerrilla of their supplies, and it has been pretty effectual in doing so. Detachments of the lat and 3d Colorado cavalry, under Col. Chevington, had a fight with the Indians near Ft. Lyon, and killed betweeen 100 and 500 Indians, and captured about 500 ponies and mules. The chiefs black Kettle. White Antelope and Little Rob were killed. The Indians were about 900 strong. Our loss is 9 killed and 38 wounded. The troops are still pursuing the savages. Nashville, Dec. 7th.

Matters at the front present no change from that of several days past. There was less cannonading to-day than usual. A rebel battery is established on the blaff, fourteen miles down the river. Last night seven gunboats went down and engaged the batteries without dislodging them from their positio. The boats returned to-day, and one of them was considerably damaged. A reconnoisance was made to-day by our forces between the L banon and Natanville pike, and after prooceding a short distance the enemy was discovered in considerable force. Our troo s charged upon the hill which they occupied and drove them off. Two or three men were killed and a number wounded.

Yesterday's Nashville Press says: Shelling the rebel lines and their working parties was kept up on the 6th, but hardly so vigorously or persit notly as the day before. Forrest with his cemmand is saff to be across the Cumberland. We cannot vouch for the trath of the statement, but give it as we hear it. The impression gains strength among both soldiers and citizens that the Confederates are evenuating. If this be so, the march on Kentncky may be said to have commenced. We thing it quite possible, and indeed probable.

Local Matters.

The late storms have played serious havoc in our Camp. The "mess bouse" of the teamsters and employees become a total wreck-the roof baving made a general "cave in" of it, and the sides are merely waiting for another dash of rain to wilt them. Several of the houses in the laundress row have been flooded and rendered almost untenantable; and traveling about in the mud. snow and water, reminded us of '61 in California, on a small scale.

KHAND BY A GRIZMAY .- Mr. B. H. Baird, of Jackson county, Ogn., was killed by a grizzly bear while out deer bunting on Grave Creek. The following particulars are from the Sentinel:

"On the morning of the 27th of Oct., about sunrise, Mr. Baird started in pursuit of game, tak-ing his faithful dog Rover, with him. He proceeded about one sile and a half, when his deg bayed three grizzly bears in their bed. Mr. Baird got within fifteen yards of them, and shot the largest one, only wounding it. The bear pitched at Mr. Baird, who ren bout two hundred yards, when the bear caught him and knocked his gun about six feet from him. Getting lose from the bear, he sprang to the limb of a tree, the bear passing under and hitting his feet, went a short distance down the hill, when he stopped to fight the dog. Mr. B. got his gunereloaded it, and shot the bear the second time. The bear now come at him more furiously than before, and knocked the gun out of his hand the secand time. Mr. B. swung around a bush to keep out of the bear's reach, drew one of his butcher knives and stabbed the bear in the belly. The bear struck him his knile out of his hand. Mr. B. then drew his second knife, when the bear seized his hand in which he held the knife, causing him to drop it. The bear now got the better of Mr. B., getting him down, biting him in the face, cutting several severe gashes on the left side, tearing out his right eye, and also tearing off all the right side of his face.

It bit several large holes in his side; in fact bit him nearly all ever his body, down to his boots. The bear now turned to fight the dog, that had saved Mr. B from having been killed on the spot. The bear and the dog then rolled down the hill some distance, still fighting, when Mr. B. gathered up his gun, two knives, the rope with which he had been leading his dog, and started for Mr. Michael's cabin, distant about one mile and a half, where he arrived, much exhausted, about 10 o'clock a. m., and was assisted into the house, when he related the melancholy event to Mr. McDonough. Being conscious that he could not long survive, he spoke of his family, and his desire to see them before he died. He was reconciled to meet his death, and spoke of a future happiness. He died about 9 e'clock p. m. of the same day. Mrs. Baird was sent for and hastened with all possible speed the distance of eighteen miles, over a very rough, hilly road, but arrived about five minutes too late to see her husband alive. He was bro't home and buried near his farm, some four miles north of Rogue river, near the stage road. He leaves a wife and sixteen children, eight of whom are but young, and live at home.

"Mr. Bouter, father wants you to come over to our house and preach a funeral." "A funeral! Who is dead, my little son?" "My little brother sir." "Ah, how, old was he?" "He wasn't no old, sir -be died a bornin' !"

"Wife," said a man, looking for a boot-jack, "I have places where I keep my things, and you ought to know it." "Yes," said she, "I ought to know where you keep your late hours but I don't." WANTED.
